

„Implant Dentistry Award“ 2023

CALL FOR POSTERS!

On the occasion of the 52nd International Annual Congress of the DGZI on October 6 and 7, 2023 in Hamburg, the DGZI will again present its "Implant Dentistry Award". Prizes will be awarded for scientific work in the form of posters, which will be published internet-based in a Digital Poster Presentation.

DGZI will pay the congress fee and the conference fee for the obligatory participation in the congress. The posters will be presented digitally only, no other form of submission is possible.

Scan QR code now or visit dgzi-2023.dpp.online/landing and submit abstract digitally!

CLOSING DATE:
15.08.2023

The screenshot shows a digital poster presentation slide. At the top, it says "VISIONS IN IMPLANTOLOGY" and "Digitale Poster-Präsentation". On the right, there's a DGZI logo. Below that, there are two main sections: "Über den Autor" (About the Author) and "Vita".
Über den Autor:
Dr. med. Ole Jung, M.D.
Klinik für Mund-, Kiefer- und Gesichtschirurgie, Sektion für Regenerative Orofaziale Medizin, Universitätsklinikum Hamburg-Eppendorf
Martinistraße 52
20251 Hamburg
040 - 741054001
ol.jung@uke.de

Vita:
Studium
■ 06/2007-03/2008 Forschungspraktikum Onkologie & Krankenpflegepraktikum Rush University Medical Center, USA; Christliches Reha-Haus Bremen
■ 03/2008-09/2012 Humanmedizin an Privaten Universität Witten/Herdecke; Washington State University, Pullman, USA; University of Idaho, Moscow, USA; Harvard Medical School, Cambridge, USA; Gables Surgery London, UK; Universität Jagiellonski, Krakau; Polen; Universität Basel, Schweiz

At the bottom, it says "Co-Autoren C. Stolzer, D. Grubeanu, J. Güth, A. Kopp, R. Smeets".

The title of the poster is "Erfassung der Strahlenreflektion von Scanbodies durch die Knochenstruktur in der Implantologie : eine In-vitro-Studie".

At the bottom right, there's a "Bildergalerie" section with a small image of a dental instrument and some micrographs.